

Manage your contacts on-the-go

Challenge

Business Development is all about building relationships while educating prospects on why your company is the best choice for them. Your smart phone is the link between your relationships and your business: most projects come from the relationships stored there, and are won based on all the check-ins, decisions, and communication that takes place there.

But while you're out nurturing prospects, your opportunity data is held hostage somewhere in an email or text thread. Insights need to be at your fingertips, not only to enable you to break into new markets, but also to ensure you are never blindsided in a meeting.

Solution

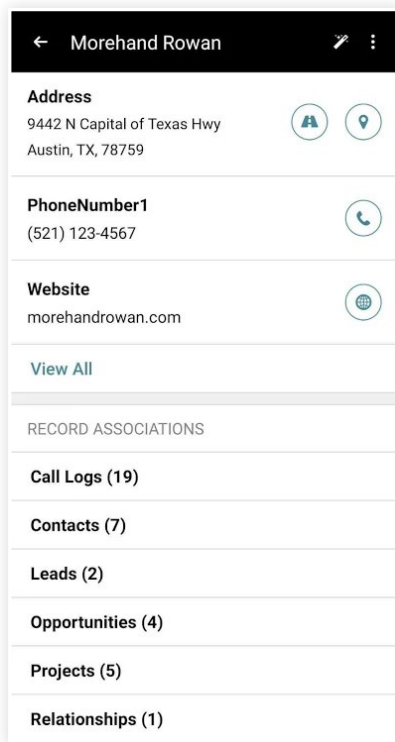

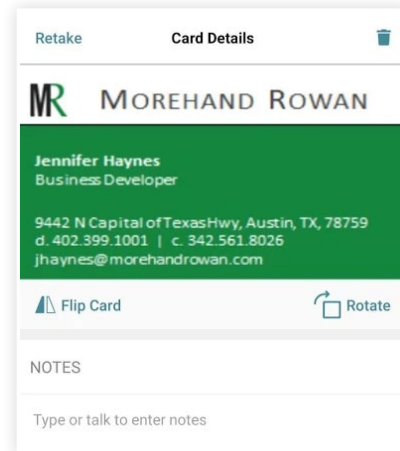

CRM by Cosential for Mobile is the fastest way to bring teams and their data together. Make it easy for business developers, doer-sellers, and professionals out in the field to manage contacts and feed teams critical milestone moments straight from their smart phone. Stay in-the-know with Companies, Contacts, Relationships and Activity Management while you're on-the-go.
